PERUVIAN OUTBREAK.

General Pierola in Arms Against the Government.

Has a Well Equipped Army, Is in Possession of Several Ports and Is Nearing Lima.

NEW YORK, Dec 1:--Advices received from Peru, via. Colnia per steamer Alliance, are to the effect that General Pierola, who is in arms against the Peruvian government, is gaining accessions to his rank. The general sentiment of the people appears to be in his favor. He has control of several of the principal ports and is very strong in the interior of the country. He has a well equipped army, and is close to Lima, the capital. The Pacific Steam Navigation company's steamer, Puno was on her arrival at Ilo on November 14, subjected to a rigid search by the government troops. Their object was to discover if the steamer was carrying arms or ammunition for General Pierola's forces. A company of soldies remained on the steamer until she arrived at Callao, the port of Lima, to prevent communication with adherents of General Pierola and to inspect all the cargo landed The same company's steamer Serena had a lively experience at Cerro Azul, the first port of all south of Callao The Serena had on board a detachment of government troops who were in charge of a number of Montrano or Pierolisto prisoners. As she entered the port she set the usual signals for lighters, it not being known that Pierola forces had captured the town. A lighter, apparently loaded with sugar, went alongside the Serena Those on the steamer were greatly surprised when the lighter was found to be filled with armed revolutionist who, after a short struggle, captured the government troops and released the prisoners During the struggle the captain of the Serena attempted to take his vessel out of the harbor, but a rifle presented at his head caused him to change his mind.

At the time these advices were despatched, Pierola's forces had control of the Oroya railroad, and traffic on the line to Ancud was suspended. The only railway in the country remaining in operation was the short line between Lima and Callao On November 22 the government fitted out an armored train, with a Gatling gun battery, to carry 2 000 soldiers along the Oroya railroad to drive off the revolutionists along the line As the train approached a camp of the revolutionists, 1,700 of the government troops deserted and joined the rebels The remainder of the government force returned with all speed to Lima. The condition of the government troops is deplorable owing to bad food and ill treatment, and, as they have not received any pay for several months, discontent is almost universal and desertions, single and in whole bodies, occur whenever opportunity is favorable. Great distress and suffering also prevail at Lima and Callao owing to the high prices and scarcity of provisions People who are able to do so, have been provided with sufficient food in anticipation to withstand a thirty days' seige Business is absolutely paralyzed throughout the country. The foreign merchants who control the business have closed their warehouses, and in some cases have shipped their stocks from Lima to Callao to be nearer the protection of their flags. At Callao the marines on one of the government hulks mutinied. To prevent the insubordination from spreading all the hands were placed under arrest on a hulk and anchored between two government ships, and all the shipping in the harbor was notified to withdraw from the line of fire. The mail steamers of the Chilian and Pacific steamship navigation companies are subject to search and inspection from each party in control of the port called at and are doing practically no business in Peru.

ARMENIAN OUTRAGE.

An American Tells the Horrible Story in a Letter.

Women Outraged, Children Slaughtered and Inmates of Burning Houses Driven Back Into the Flames.

BOSTON, Dec 13 --The following is an extract from a letter received in this city from an American gentleman residing in Erzerum, which is in the province of Sassoun, where the recent Turkish atrocities against Christian Armenians are reported to have occurred. For obvious reasons the names of the writer and recipient are withheld

"Last year the Talvoring Armenians resisted the attack of the neighboring Kurds and this year the Turkish government sent detachments of regular soldiers to put down the Armenians. They were assisted by the Kurdish hamedish The Armenians were attacked in their mountain fastnesses and, reduced by the failure of supplies and ammunition, they were finally unable to resist longer. About a score of villages were obliterated and many people slaughtered.

A number of young Armenians were bound, covered with brush and burned alive Others pleaded for mercy, but were shot down on the spot while others were despatched with the bayonet and sword About one hundred women were shut up in a church. Many were outraged to death, and the remainder despatched with the sword. Another lot of women were captured as spoils of war. Two stories are told as to their disposition. One is that they were carried off to Moslem harems and another they were slaughtered on refusing to go. Children were placed in line, apparently to see how many could be killed with one bullet. Many children were beheaded and inmates of burning houses driven back into the flames at the point of a bayonet as they tried to escape Estimates vary from 3,000 to 8 000 as to the number massacred Some estimates place the number even twice as high. The massacres happened in August and September and were perpetrated by sundry under officers of high rank. This gives the affair a most serious aspect. A christian does not enjoy the respect given to street dogs and if this massacre is passed over it will simply be a declaration of the doom of Armenian christianity.

The Rochdale Jubilee.

Fifty years ago, in December, 1844, 28 English weavers met in the town of Rochdale and resolved to club their little spare money together and buy a lot of groceries wholesale. Their combined fund amounted to $140. With this they laid in supplies by the barrel of sugar, flour, oatmeal and butter. They brought their barrels to a room and sold the contents to themselves at retail. Each paid cash as he went and bought the goods at the current retail price of the neighborhood They had not expected to make any profit. They had hoped simply to get a better quality of goods, with better weight and measure.

This was the beginning of the great Rochdale co-operative store system, which has revolutionized much of the trade of Great Britain among the better class of working people. When the honest factory weavers came to cast up accounts, they found there was a handsome profit for themselves from the retail price the goods had brought.

At Rochdale is celebrated this December the jubilee of the co-operative store system. It is managed still on lines similar to those laid down in the beginning by the 28 weavers.

Any one who pays an initiation fee of $5 may become a member and share in the profits. But now co-operative stores have sprung up all over Great Britain. The co-operative stores have a membership of 1,500,000, and their capital is not less than $90,000,000. There is a great wholesale co-operative society too.

The two largest vessels of their respective types ever designed for the American navy are now on the stocks of the Cramps' shipyard at League Island, Philadelphia. One is a battleship to be called the Iowa. It is of 11,300 tons displacement. The other is an armored cruiser to be called the Brooklyn. The Brooklyn will be a vessel of 9,130 tons, 1,000 tons larger than the New York, which at present is the biggest cruiser in the American navy Not till the summer of 1895 will the Iowa and Brooklyn be ready for launching. The Iowa will not be finished complete till 1896. Two other vessels of the navy are at the same shipyard—the Indiana and the Massachusetts The Indiana will be ready for her trial trip by next July, it is believed. The cruiser Minneapolis has just been completed by the Cramps, and she is a beautiful ship, white like the famous squadron of evolution.

The county authorities in one locality after another are gradually showing themselves able to cope with lynchers and protect prisoners from being hanged without trial The country is to be congratulated on this fact.

MORE CADETS.

Senator Bate's Bill to Increase the Number to 469.

Carlisle's Financial Bill Continues to be the Absorbing Theme in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Dec 12—Senator Bate, chairman of the board of visitors to West Point Military academy, today presented the report of the board to the senate The report takes a strong ground in favor of a change of the law which will increase the number of cadets to 469 or one cadet for each senator and representative and twenty for the president, instead of the present number, which is about 250 It was admitted that this increase would probably result in a larger number of graduates than could find officers places in the army, but it is suggested that as the additional cost would be very slight the country could well afford to increase the number for the benefit to be derived in a purely educational way Discussing the wisdom of the change the board says that a part of the number graduated every year could be retired to private life, remaining, however, subject to the command of the country

The house banking and currency committee continued its hearings today. There was a bare majority of the committee present. Letters were read from W. B. Dana, editor of the Commercial and Financial Chronicle, and from R B Ferris, vice president of the bank of New York Referring to section 10 of the Carlisle bill providing for the issue of notes by state banks, without the provision of a sinking fund, Mr. Ferris said: "It makes the bill simply an inflation measure modified by the deposit of 30 per cent in legal tender notes and the provision to cancel United States notes to the extent of 70 per cent of new circulation issued when the treasury has the means to do it"

He closes his letter by saying. "As a bill to substitute national bank notes for United States issues it will be a failure, as it presents no inducements to solid banks to become insurers of the circulation of mushroom institutions and the stimulant to organize state banks not subject to United States inspection is questionable"

Mr. Cockran's motion to recommit the urgent deficiency bill with instructions to strike out the appropriation for the income tax was defeated—yeas, 49; nays, 168

HERMOSILLO, Mexico, Dec 13 —A band of about twenty Yeqii Indians visited the ranch of Ruiz Borcen, situated west of here and killed four boys employed on the place The Indians burned all of the ranch buildings. A force of rural guards have gone in pursuit of the Indians.

In an article in last evening's Staats Zietung an unjust attack is made so Councilman Loesch. says, when it says that he is the author and father of the screen ordinance, which was introduced in the city council at its last meeting and charging that the drug gists are carrying on an illegal liquor traffic back of their prescription cases. The ordinance was not drawn up or introduced by Mr. Loesch. His motion, in conformance with the rules of the council, was that the rules be suspended and the ordinance placed on its second reading, so that the council might have an opportunity to know the contents of the ordinance. The attack Mr Loesch says was misleading and an unjust criticism of his connection with the screen ordinance.

Sunday Newspapers.

Richard H. Dana made some very sweeping charges against the Sunday newspapers in an address delivered at the Episcopal church congress in Boston. Mr. Dana declared that the tone of the present Sunday newspaper is lowering instead of elevating and that every foreigner who comes to this country observes the fact. The distinguished orator has lived long enough in the classic shadow of Harvard college to know better than to use language in that loose and sloppy way Of the foreigners who come to America not one in 50 reads our English Sunday papers at all. Of those who do read a Sunday paper not one in 500 has cultivation enough to discern whether it is lowering or elevating. They do not know or care anything about it. Mr. Dana should keep truth on his side, at least as nearly as he can.

It is true the Sunday papers might be improved. The orator is right when he says the pictures in them are crude, bad and inartistic The haste in which newspapers must be printed has much to do with that. Still no doubt newspaper illustrations ought to be greatly improved. But when Mr. Dana bowls about the scandals and crimes that appear in the papers there he runs against something over which the editor of the Sunday journal has no control. The editor gives his readers just what they want and pay for. Reformers should labor with the reader, not with the editor.

It is interesting to find from Mr. Dana's researches that one of the large Sunday papers contains contained enough matter, apart from advertisements, to require four days of seven hours each to read through It has half as much again reading matter as the New Testament.

SOMETHING WILL DROP.

That's What the Police of Fort Wayne Say.

A Thief Enters the High School Building and Steals a Coat--Police Court Today.

It leaked out today that the police department has within the past few weeks accumulated evidence against some fifteen or twenty saloonkeepers who have been violating the laws and that one of these fine days, in the immediate future, something will be heard to drop It has been known to the reporters that the police were piling the mayor's desk with information as to who are keeping open on Sunday and after 11 o'clock, and as no arrests have been made recently it seemed strange that the police should be so industrious in collecting evidence unless some thing on a large scale was contemplated. Said one of the officers this morning "We will take a day off soon and the people will see this department hang out this sign 'This is our busy day.'"

POLICE COURT

A few days ago Charles Rogers, a railroad man, whose home is in Brazil Ind, came to this city to try and secure employment on the new railroad. Not being successful, he spent considerable of his time in saloons near the south depot and by dark last evening was in a deplorable state of intoxication He was arrested by Officer Paul and this morning told the officers that he had been drugged yesterday. The police, however, do not believe this part of the man's story. The fellow, appearing sincerely penitent and agreeing to leave the city, the mayor allowed him to go

Richard Hannon was a plain drunk, arrested by Officer Cooling He was let go on promise of good behavior.

HUMANITY'S HELP.

Women Banded Together for Charitable Work.

The Relief Union Reaches the Deserving Poor and Gives Help Where Most Needed.

For seventeen years the women of the Relief union have been banded together for charitable work They first called themselves the Ladies' Aid society, afterwards under article of the association, they were incorporated with the name of the Fort Wayne Relief union.

At the beginning of their work all investigations of cases and distribution of relief was made by the members each working on her own lines and reporting at the bi weekly meetings of the society Experience proved the inadequacy of this method A central bureau, and a superintendent to take charge of the work, were found absolute necessities

This increases the expenses but brings much better results In no other way is it possible to give the deserving such attention as they need, or to expose those who, under the guise of distress, ply their beggar's profession by soliciting from door to door. The suppression of street begging is one of the most difficult problems in charity work. To solve it, there must be a thorough system and good machinery. That involves expense

The financial part of the work of the Relief union has always been conducted on the "hand to mouth" system, the income depending upon the spasmodic generosity of its friends. At the beginning the women who were most interested in its success, resorted to fairs, dinners, entertainments, etc, the ordinary methods of women, to raise the necessary funds. Such methods, while often seeming at first glance successful financially, are great absorbers of time, and the necessary expenses many times reduces the receipts to a discouraging degree.

In view of these facts, it has been deemed best to solicit directly for such contributions as those interested in the success of the work feel they can give. By this method, every penny contributed comes immediately into the treasury, and a dollar is not reduced one half by the expense attending its collection.

The board of directors have issued a circular letter, asking for contributions The efficiency of their work during the coming winter will depend upon the response to this appeal It is hoped that money enough will be received to enable them to do the work in a manner satisfactory to themselves and to the public

CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICTS.

Senate Committee's Probable Rearrangement of Them.

The senate committee on congressional apportionment appointed at the conference last week will meet at Indianapolis next Tuesday The republican members of the committee, says the Indianapolis News, are already be sieged by friends of the thirteen republican congressmen elect in the state Each of the congressmen-elect is preparing to insist that in the rearrangement of the congressional districts he shall be taken care of, i e, the new district shall be so constructed as to make the election of a republican sure two years from now. There is already some feeling becoming manifest, and some of the old politicians say that before the reapportionment is agreed upon there will be a lack of harmony among the politicians of the thirteen districts The understanding is at this time that every congressional district will be changed. After mentioning the proposed changes in each district, the News concludes as follows:

"The Tenth, Twelfth and Thirteenth districts are bothering the leaders a good deal. It has been figured out that some of the republican counties in the Ninth district might be added to the Tenth district, and the politicians say a fair way will be found for making the Eleventh district reliably republican, Allen county is the troublesome county in the Twelfth district. By putting that county somewhere else, the district can be made republican, but no other district wishes to be associated with the county. The chairman of the senate committee, Senator Vall, is from Elkhart, in the Eleventh district, and it has been suggested that he will see that the northern districts are all properly cared for in the shake up It will be the endeavor of the republicans to arrange the districts so as to give the republicans eight of the thirteen congressmen."

THE Iowa supreme court has decided that the mulct liquor law had not superceded the prohibitory law as the general law of the state

THE civil service is extending to all classes of government officials and is exerting a purifying influence in American politics which the country would never have known had it not been for Grover Cleveland

GOVERNOR MATTHEWS is at his farm in Vermilion county engaged in preparing his biennial message The governor has the satisfaction of knowing that since the beginning of his term of office the affairs of the state have been managed in an excellent manner

THE house has passed a resolution for the payment of congressional salaries eleven days before they shall have been fully earned Whatever may be the shortcomings of congress, hesitancy in promptly providing for personal needs has never been charged against it

THE civilized world may rejoice with good reason at the royal sanction of the measures assuring full religious freedom in Hungary That nation has heretofore been one of the benighted realms of the world—little, if any, better than Russia Under the new dispensation, it will be more than surprising if it does not progress proportionately more rapidly than any country of the old world

REPORTS of the township trustees of Indiana show that they spent $586 000 in 1893 for relief for the poor In some counties three or four times as much was spent as in others of similar size Some trustees it is believed, spent their poor funds for political purposes placing the money where it would bring votes Under the present law a trustee can not succeed himself and the temptation to buy votes with the poor relief is partially removed A trustee may yet use the money to aid a friend seeking to succeed him The state board of charities will probably discuss the relief of the poor by township trustees in its next report

COLUMBIA CITY, in erecting drinking fountains on her public square and elsewhere, is doing something that Fort Wayne ought to imitate and which THE SENTINEL has repeatedly urged The fountains at Columbia City will be equipped so that man and beast can quench their thirst with the greatest of ease The faithful dog also has a place to lap The water will come direct from the city's health restoring wells

THE good government tidal wave is not only sweeping through the west but the large eastern cities are feeling its power to such an extent as never before known In New York the best women of the city are at the head of the movement and nightly meetings are being held to see that the laws are not trifled with Officers and police men who have failed to do their duty are being rapidly removed and new men put in their places The motto is let none but loyal men men who have the welfare of the people at heart, be placed in charge In our own city, since the saloons have been closed on Sunday and at 11 o'clock at night, crime has decreased, drunkenness lessened, and many homes made happier by the help and presence of fathers and sons No one knows the curse of drink like the poor mother and wife who wait in the lonely hour of night for the return of her sons or husband The 11 o'clock law has done much to stop drunkenness and crime and with the screen ordinance in force the saloons that attempt to run all night can be watched and closed We have entirely too many saloons in Fort Wayne for the size of our city. We know of no city that has more saloons for its population than ours We have 9 000 voters and 190 saloons, that have taken out city licenses, which makes one saloon to every forty eight voters One can see at a glance that some persons must be doing a great deal of drinking to keep these places going and that much of the poverty and suffering of our city is directly due to this cause

Cheaper Rates of Living

In many parts of the Union a war is being waged against the bakers to compel them to lower the charge for a loaf of bread to something like a fair level with the relative price of wheat and flour A barrel of the best flour costs the baker now from $3 50 to $3 64, yet he charges just the same—5 cents—for a loaf of bread that he did four years ago, when flour was nearly twice as much per barrel All other bakers' trash is up in proportion People want to know why this is, and they are determined to find out. Already prices are weakening In some of the cities the bakers have yielded and are selling the former 5 cent loaf for 4 and 3 cents. Undoubtedly bread must come down everywhere

The same is true of beef and mutton Beef cattle have been dull in price for several years past. Yet beef is just as high as it ever was. It must come down to meet the lowered scale of wages If people of reduced incomes cannot pay for meat, fortunately they can live without meat They would be better off if they did not eat so much as it is. Milk has already fallen In the large cities the dealers sell the best quality sometimes as low as 5 cents a quart

Groceries have been reduced in price This has been brought about in a notable way by the great dry goods houses entering into the grocery trade and underselling the regular grocers. The Grocers' union has kept prices up, but the big dry goods houses have forced them down Members of the Grocers' union declare the dry goods men are selling the articles below cost, but great merchants do not usually sell wares of any kind in that way As to wearing apparel, good, common, respectable clothing material silk and cotton fabrics, furs, etc, have taken a great tumble Only rents still remain at extravagance prices, and even they must eventually descend from their high notch

One fact is especially to be noted It is that when prices are lowered all around they never go back to the former high rates, but remain permanently down So it will be in the present depression If merchants, householders and butchers can no longer get the prices they used to because working people's wages have fallen, they, on the other hand, will no longer have to pay so much for things they must buy So the situation will be equalized all round

They Saw Stars

The captain of a schooner belonging in Bridgeport, Conn, tells a queer story He is ready to stake his word as a seaman that his schooner was hit by a meteor the other day This extraordinary object struck the topmast, sizzled and swizzled through the sails, setting the rigging on fire, and finally burst Chunks as large as a "bushel basket" fell on the deck The shock knocked down the watch and those of the crew who were on deck and scared them out of a year's growth, so the story goes. One sailor was in the rigging when the thing hit, and he was burned about the legs The time was early in the morning just before daylight The vessel's deck was illuminated till it was as light as day It is rather against this remarkable yarn that the name of the schooner was P T Barnum If the captain and crew of the schooner can show any of the pieces of the meteor 'as big as a bushel basket,'' and if the sailor whose legs were burned has still his wounds to show for the explosion, then mankind will be ready to believe that the schooner P T Barnum really did have a collision with a meteor that burst into starry fragments and fell on the deck, setting fire to the rigging

It is to be hoped some of those large fragments of a meteor will find their way to the museums of the country and be analyzed

The churches in the great cities seem disposed to sink theological differences and unite to reform American municipal government. They could not be in better business

Prizes in Prayers

A gentleman in Piscataquis county who likes a joke, although he has no purpose of making light of serious things, tells a story of an old character in his neighborhood who mixed up eccentricity, religious fervor and profanity after a most singular fashion One fall, when the snow was too thin for snowshoeing, the "character" got very uneasy, as he was anxious to go a hunting He fussed about for several days and at last fell to praying fervently "Snow, Lord send snow! Send $5 worth," was the burden of his supplication That very night the storm struck a regular blizzard, and before it was over the snow lay three feet deep everywhere As it was as light as feathers, it was no better for snowshoeing than when there was none, and the disgusted hunter looked out of doors ruefully 'If I had known the blamed stuff was so thunderin' cheap," he exclaimed in his vexation, "I wouldn t have prayed for more than a dollar's worth "—Lewiston Journal

NOTHING TO WORRY ABOUT

He Wasn't Disturbed About a Little Mistake Like That

A serious blunder occurred in a West Virginia county not long ago A number of the farmers had sustained losses of sheep from their respective flocks, and being skeptical as to the efficiency of the law officers one night took the matter in their own hands A dozen or more of them proceeded some miles away to the house of Rehoboth Jemson and notwithstanding his protestations of innocence gave him a severe drubbing

The affair created no little stir, as Rehoboth was a very respectable colored man who owned a snug little farm and was a deacon in the Baptist church He had the confidence and esteem of his white neighbors, who were so worked up over the matter that they considered the expediency of an investigation that should lead to the punishment of the rioting party

Within a few days the farmers discovered they had made an awkward mistake, the guilty party having been caught red handed and had made a full confession, so being in the main a right good set of fellows they decided to offer balm to Rehoboth for his many wounds Three of their number were designated a committee, with full powers to act, and they hastened to the discharge of their duty Old Rehoboth was sitting in his neat little cabin with bandaged head, while his wife was applying a cooling wash to his lacerated back The committee looked foolish and scarcely knew how to begin, but finally one of the number stammered out an apology and added that they were willing to pay a reasonable amount as recompense for his sufferings

"La, child how you does talk, sho'ly! A mockin sich a fuss dat I is ashamed on ye You jes git back fer yer homes 'n stay dar I ain't axin nuffin 'n don' want nuffin W'y, honey, ef I done tuck on about de misteks or white folkses, I d jes' be plum' mis'able harf de time' —Chicago Tribune

SEEKING A HOME.

The Lozier Bicycle Works May Locate Here.

Accidents, Incidents and Personal Gossip of the Railway Offices and Shops.

The Lozier Manufacturing company, builders of the Cleveland bicycles, whose factories were recently destroyed by fire in Toledo, are seeking a new location. THE SENTINEL is informed that Mr. H. G. Olds, of the Olds Wagon works, is making an effort to have the Loziers locate here and as an inducement it is understood he has tendered them the use of a portion of the wagon works buildings for shop room. The Lozier Manufacturing company, prior to the destruction of their works, gave employment to 500 men. Such an addition to our industrial interests would be a great benefit to Fort Wayne and THE SENTINEL hopes that Mr. Olds will be successful in securing it.

Chicago Society Interested In the Indictment of Mrs. Warren Springer.

Chicago society is considerably exercised over the case of Mrs Warren Springer, wife of a well known capitalist and manufacturer, who was indicted the other day by the grand jury for attempting to corruptly influence a juror in the suit of her husband against the Metropolitan Elevated Railroad company.

When the charges against Mrs. Springer were first made public a couple of months ago, they caused a sensation because of the great wealth and prominence in a certain way of her husband, says the Chicago Post The facts were widely commented on at the time, and there was a dramatic scene in Judge Baker's court when Mrs. Springer was confronted with and identified by Mrs. Joseph Marmon, wife of the juror who was the object of Mrs Springer's alleged attempt at jury fixing A jury had been for some days, at that time, engaged in the suit of Warren Springer against the Metropolitan Elevated Railway company, in which he claimed several hundred thousand dollars from the corporation for damages said to have been done to one of his buildings by the construction of the elevated road.

One of the jurors was George W. Marmon, and one day before court opened he called on Judge Baker and said that a woman calling herself Mrs Warren Springer had called on his wife at their home, 3234 Vernon avenue, and offered to pay her money contingent on Juror Marmon securing a verdict in favor of Springer. Judge Baker dismissed the jury from further hearing of the case and issued a bench warrant for the arrest of the woman who had approached Mrs. Marmon with the proposition of bribery

It was stated by Mr Springer that his wife could not have been the person who visited Mrs Marmon, because she was out of town and had been for more than a week She was identified by Mrs. Marmon, however, as the woman who had attempted to bribe her. Mrs. Springer was held for the grand jury, and the recent indictment is the result Mrs. Springer is a rather comely woman, with a slender face framed with dark brown hair, has large gray eyes and apparently is not more than 25 years old Though she came of an old Scotch Presbyterian family, Mrs. Springer herself was sent to the Franciscan Sisters' convent at Lexington, Ky, when but 10 years of age and remained there until she was 20. Her manner is plainly that of a convent bred girl She is highly cultivated—a musician, painter and linguist—and her home is crowded with books and works of art

The legal presumption will be that she acted under duress of her husband Should this point be sustained it will leave Mr Springer liable for the acts of his wife, because the law says that in such cases the husband shall receive the same penalty that would be inflicted on the wife were she convicted.

A SCANDAL AVERTED.

Ward McAllister Suppresses a Threatened Breach of Promise Suit.

Heyward Hall McAllister, the young son of Ward McAllister, the arbiter of New York fashion, will not be sued by Mrs Lizzie McCall-Wall for damages for breach of promise. Rather than have his private affairs aired in a court a money settlement has been made, says the New York Herald, and there will be no litigation.

Few women have had such a career as Mrs. McCall, who is still handsome and fascinating. She has been married twice, sued for divorce once and was indicted for manslaughter in the fourth degree, charged with having killed her husband, George Barry Wall After she had made her debut in "Evangeline" she married Wall, a young lawyer of New York, and with him went to live in New Utrecht

She longed for the society of her stage friends after a time, and her visits to them caused many quarrels between herself and her husband One day in February, 1883, he was found in his room shot. His wife was crying over him, and she said he had shot himself. He died in a few days, having said that his wife had shot him and had begged him to say it was an accident She was arrested, indicted and released on $5,000 bail, but the indictment was after ward nolle prosequied She then went abroad, and, returning, went on the stage and was married to Nestor Lenoue, an actor, who secured a divorce from her.

Between Childhood and Old Age.

A writer in the St Louis Globe-Democrat says. A strange case that is attracting the attention of and puzzling the Kansas City doctors is that of Lillian Miller, a girl of 11 years, who has undergone a most remarkable change within the past year. About a year ago Lillian was a slight child of extreme nervous dispositon. She had a fainting fit at that time, which the attending physician attributed to nervousness. From that time on the fainting spells grew frequent until finally they took the form of convulsions, and with this change came one that was wonderful to a degree The child when out of the convulsion complained of much pain and acted as a child of her age would naturally. During the convulsion and immediately after she appeared to become another person She took on the appearance of a very old woman in speech and manner. She would converse as an old woman and give advice to those about her She claimed to be 90 years old and did not know those of the family who were with her. This peculiar condition lasts for an hour or so, and then she returns to her normal condition. These changes have become frequent until now she about equally divides her time between the two conditions.

There is a loud call since the election for a ballot folding machine in states where the Australian system of voting has been adopted. In New York city there were as many as 22 different ballots, all to be folded by hands oftentimes so stiffened with labor that they could not perform the task Some of the voters gave up in despair and did not vote at all Besides the measures to be voted in favor of there were those to be voted against. The votes cast had to be folded and deposited in the ballot box. The rest had to be folded and given to an inspector, who tore them up. The less intelligent voter became muddled and weary before he had completed the reading and fumbling In many cases men no doubt voted for candidates and measures they desired to vote against The folding machine would help matters

PERUVIAN OUTBREAK.

General Pierola to Arms Against the Government.

Has a Well Equipped Army, is in Possession of Several Ports and is Nearing Lima.

NEW YORK, Dec 12—Advices received from Peru, via Colon per steamer Alliance, are to the effect that General Pierola, who is in arms against the Peruvian government, is gaining accessions to his rank. The general sentiment of the people appears to be in his favor. He has control of several of the principal portsand is very strong in the interior of the country. He has a well equipped army, and is close to Lima, the capital. The Pacific Steam Navigation company's steamer, Puno was on her arrival at Ilo on November 14, subjected to a rigid search by the government troops. Their object was to discover if the steamer was carrying arms or ammunition for General Pierola's forces. A company of soldiers remained on the steamer until she arrived at Callao, the port of Lima, to prevent communication with adherents of General Pierola and to inspect all the cargo landed. The same company's steamer Sorena had a lively experience at Cerro Azul, the first port of all south of Callao The Serena had on board a detachment of government troops who were in charge of a number of Montano or Pierolista prisoners. As she entered the port she set the usual signals for lighters, it not being known that Pierola forces had captured the town. A lighter, apparently loaded with sugar, went alongside the Serena Those on the steamer were greatly surprised when the lighter was found to be filled with armed revolutionist who, after a short struggle, captured the government troops and released the prisoners. During the struggle the captain of the Serena attempted to take his vessel out of the harbor, but a rifle presented at his head caused him to change his mind.

At the time these advices were dispatched, Pierola's forces had control of the Oroya railroad, and traffic on the line to Ancud was suspended. The only railway in the country remaining in operation was the short line between Lima and Callao On November 22 the government fitted out an armored train, with a Gatling gun battery, to carry 2000 soldiers along the Oroya railroad to drive off the revolutionists along the line As the train approached a camp of the revolutionists, 1,700 of the government troops deserted and joined the rebels The remainder of the government force returned with all speed to Lima. The condition of the government troops is deplorable owing to bad food and ill treatment, and, as they have not received any pay for several months, discontent is almost universal and desertions, single and in whole bodies, occur whenever opportunity is favorable. Great distress and suffering also prevail at Lima and Callao owing to the high prices and scarcity of provisions. People who are able to do so, have been provided with sufficient food in anticipation to withstand a thirty days' siege Business is absolutely paralyzed throughout the country. The foreign merchants who control the business have stored their warehouses, and in some cases have shipped their stocks from Lima to Callao to be nearer the protection of their flags. At Callao the marines on one of the government hulks mutinied. To prevent the insubordination from spreading all the hands were placed under arrest on a hulk and anchored between two government ships, and all the shipping in the harbor was notified to withdraw from the line of fire. The mail steamers of the Chilian and Pacific steamship navigation companies are subject to search and inspection from each party in control of the port called at and are doing practically no business in Peru.

ARMENIAN OUTRAGE.

An American Tells the Horrible Story in a Letter.

Moslem Outraged, Children Slaughtered and Hundreds of Bleeding Bodies Driven Back into the Flames.

BOSTON, Dec 13—The following is an extract from a letter received in this city from an American gentleman residing in Erzerum, which is in the province of Sassoun, where the recent Turkish atrocities against Christian Armenians are reported to have occurred. For obvious reasons the names of the writer and receipient are withheld:

"Last year the Talvoring Armenians resisted the attack of the neighboring Kurds and this year the Turkish government sent detachments of regular soldiers to put down the Armenians. They were assisted by the Kurdish hamidieh The Armenians were attacked in their mountain fastnesses and, reduced by the failure of supplies and ammunition, they were finally unable to resist longer. About a score of villages were obliterated and many people slaughtered.

A number of young Armenians were bound, covered with brush and burned alive. Others pleaded for mercy, but were shot down on the spot while others were despatched with the bayonet and sword About one hundred women were shut up in a church. Many were outraged to death, and the remainder despatched with the sword. Another lot of women were captured as spoils of war. Two stories are told as to their disposition. One is that they were carried off to Moslem harems and another they were slaughtered on refusing to go. Children were placed in line, apparently to see how many could be killed with one bullet. Many children were beheaded and inmates of burning houses driven back into the flames at the point of a bayonet as they tried to escape. Estimates vary from 3,000 to 8,000 as to the number massacred. Some estimates place the number even twice as high. The massacres happened in August and September and were perpetrated by sundry under officers of high rank. This gives the affair a most serious aspect. A christian does not enjoy the respect given to street dogs and if this massacre is passed over it will simply be a declaration of the doom of Armenian christianity.

The Rochdale Jubilee.

Fifty years ago, in December, 1844, 28 English weavers met in the town of Rochdale and resolved to club their little spare money together and buy a lot of groceries wholesale. Their combined fund amounted to $140 With this they laid in supplies by the barrel of sugar, flour, oatmeal and butter. They brought their barrels to a room and sold the contents to themselves at retail. Each paid cash as he went and bought the goods at the current retail price of the neighborhood. They had not expected to make any profit They had hoped simply to get a better quality of goods, with better weight and measure.

This was the beginning of the great Rochdale co-operative store system, which has revolutionized much of the trade of Great Britain among the better class of working people. When the honest factory weavers came to cast up accounts, they found there was a handsome profit for themselves from the retail price the goods had brought.

At Rochdale is celebrated this December the jubilee of the co-operative store system. It is managed still on lines similar to those laid down at the beginning by the 28 weavers.

Any one who pays an initiation fee of $5 may become a member and share in the profits. But now co-operative stores have sprung up all over Great Britain. The co-operative stores have a membership of 1,300,000, and their capital is not less than $90,000,000. There is a great wholesale co-operative society too

The two largest vessels of their respective types ever designed for the American navy are now on the stocks at the Cramps' shipyard at League Island, Philadelphia. One is a battleship to be called the Iowa. It is of 11,300 tons displacement. The other is an armored cruiser to be called the Brooklyn. The Brooklyn will be a vessel of 9,150 tons, 1,000 tons larger than the New York, which at present is the biggest cruiser in the American navy. Not till the summer of 1895 will the Iowa and Brooklyn be ready for launching. The Iowa will not be finished complete till 1896. Two other vessels of the navy are at the same shipyard—the Indiana and the Massachusetts. The Indiana will be ready for her trial trip by next July, it is believed. The cruiser Minneapolis has just been completed by the Cramps and she is a beautiful ship, while like the famous squadron of evolution.

MORE CADETS.

Senator Hale's Bill to Increase the Number to 4419.

Carlisle's Financial Bill Continues to be the Absorbing Theme in Washington.

WASHINGTON Dec 12—Senator Hale, chairman of the board of visitors to West Point Military academy, today presented the report of the board to the senate The report takes a strong ground in favor of a change of the law which will increase the number of cadets to 1070 or one cadet for each senator and representative and twenty for the president, instead of the present number, which is about 250 It was admitted that this increase would probably result in a larger number of graduates than could find officers places in the army, but it is suggested that as the additional cost would be very slight the country could well afford to increase the number for the benefit to be derived in a purely educational way. Discussing the wisdom of the change the board says that a part of the number graduated every year could be retired to private life, remaining, however, subject to the command of the country.

The house banking and currency committee continued its hearings today. There was a hard majority of the committee present. Letters were read from W B. Dana, editor of the Commercial and Financial Chronicle, and from H. B. Ferris, vice president of the bank of New York Referring to section 10 of the Carlisle bill providing for the issue of notes by state banks, without the provision of a sinking fund, Mr. Ferris said: "It makes the bill simply an inflation measure modified by the deposit of 30 per cent. in legal tender notes and the provision to cancel United States notes to the extent of 70 per cent of new circulation issued when the treasury has the means to do it."

He closes his letter by saying: "As a bill to substitute national bank notes for United States issues it will be a failure, as it presents no inducements to solid banks to become issuers of the circulation of unsafe institutions and the stimulant to organize state banks not subject to United States inspection is questionable."

Mr. Cockran's motion to recommit the urgent deficiency bill with instructions to strike out the appropriation for the income tax was defeated—yeas, 49; nays, 168

In an article in last evening's Staats Zeitung an unjust attack is made on Councilman Losch, says, when it says that he is the author and father of the screen ordinance, which was introduced in the city council at its last meeting and charging that the drug girls are carrying on an illegal liquor traffic back of their prescription cases. The ordinance was not drawn up or introduced by Mr. Losch. His motion, in conformance with the rules of the council, was that the rules be suspended and the ordinance placed on its second reading, so that the council might have an opportunity to know the contents of the ordinance. The attack Mr Losch says was misleading, and an unjust criticism of his connection with the screen ordinance.

WOMEN WAGE WORKERS.

What is Shown By the State Statistician's Report.

The bureau of statistics in Indiana has issued its report for 1893 91. The principal paper in the report is devoted to the women wage earners of Indianapolis. The figures were compiled and the article was written by a woman, whose name is not given All women in professional classes—teachers, musicians, physicians, dentists, writers, nurses and the like—were excluded from the tables.

Twenty industries were taken, and figures were collected from 593 working women. The average age at which these women began work was 16.7 years; their average age at the present time is 23.7 years. Their average time in their present positions is 4 9 years. Many of these wage earners have followed other occupations than those they are at the present time engaged in; the average number of occupations for each woman is 1 2. The average number of hours a day is 9 9; the average annual vacation is nine tenths of a week. The same period is lost through sickness; 6.6 weeks each year are the average time lost through lack of work. Twelve per cent. of the women wage earners suffer injurious effects from the kind of work they are engaged in. The average weekly wages is $5 66 In paper-box factories women make only $3 78 a week. Some paste stitchers work for $3 50 a week.

An article is devoted to domestic labor in Indianapolis, Evansville, Fort Wayne, Terre Haute, New Albany, South Bend, Richmond and Lafayette. The average wages paid weekly to hired girls in these cities are $2 61 In Indianapolis the average is $3, in Richmond it is $2 About 4 per cent of the hired girls in these places make only 75 cents to $1 75 a week.

Sunday Newspapers.

Richard H. Dana made some very sweeping charges against the Sunday newspapers in an address delivered at the Episcopal church congress in Boston. Mr. Dana declared that the tone of the present Sunday newspaper is lowering instead of elevating and that every foreigner who comes to this country observes the fact The distinguished orator had lived long enough in the classic shadow of Harvard college to know better than to use language in that loose and sloppy way. Of the foreigners who come to America not one in 50 reads our English Sunday papers at all. Of those who do read a Sunday paper not one in 500 has cultivation enough to discern whether it is lowering or elevating. They do not know or care anything about it. Mr. Dana should keep trully on his side, at least as nearly as he can.

It is true the Sunday papers might be improved. The matter is right when he says the pictures in them are crude, bad and inartistic. The best in which newspapers seem to printed has much to do with that. Still no doubt newspaper illustrations ought to be greatly improved. But when Mr. Dana knows about the scandals and crimes that appear in the papers there he runs against something more which the editor of the Sunday journal has no control. The editor gives his readers just what they want and pay for. Reformers should labor with the reader, not with the editor.

It is idle nonsing to find from Mr. Dana's researches that one of the large Sunday papers contains sensational enough matter, apart from advertisements to require five days of ordinary reading to read it through. It has half as much again as the New Testament.

SOMETHING WILL DROP.

That's What the Police of Fort Wayne Say.

A Thief Enters the High School Building and Steals a Coat—Police Court Today.

The Relief Union Resolves the Beggar Into Four and Gives Help Where Most Needed.

For seventeen years the women of the Relief union have been banded together for charitable work. They first called themselves the Ladies' Aid society, afterwards, under article of the association, they were incorporated with the name of the Fort Wayne Relief union.

At the beginning of their work all investigations of cases and distribution of relief was made by the members each working on her own lines and reporting at the bi weekly meetings of the society. Experience proved the inadequacy of this method. A central bureau, and a superintendent to take charge of the work, were found absolute necessities

This increases the expenses but brings much better results In no other way is it possible to give the deserving such attention as they need; or to expose those who, under the guise of distress, ply their beggar's profession by soliciting from door to door. The suppression of street begging is one of the most difficult problems in charity work. To solve it, there must be a thorough system and good machinery. That involves expense.

The financial part of the work of the Relief union has always been conducted on the "hand to mouth" system, the income depending upon the sporadic generosity of its friends. At the beginning the women who were most interested in its success, resorted to fairs, dinners, entertainments, etc., the ordinary methods of women, to raise the necessary funds. Such methods, while often meeting at first glance successful financially, are great absorbers of time, and the necessary expenses many times reduces the receipts to a discouraging degree.

In view of these facts, it has been deemed best to solicit directly for such contributions as those interested in the success of the work feel they can give. By this method, every penny contributed comes immediately into the treasury, and a dollar is not reduced one half by the expense attending its collection.

The board of directors have issued a circular letter, asking for contributions The efficiency of their work during the coming winter will depend upon the response to this appeal. It is hoped that money enough will be received to enable them to do the work in a manner satisfactory to themselves and to the public.

At a meeting of the directors of the Brenzinger Bread Baking company, it was decided to give 1000 loaves of bread to the poor of Fort Wayne, through the various churches of the city.

The donation will be made monthly for four months, at the rate of 1000 loaves per month The Brenzinger brand has upon it a stamp. By doing this they are helping the poor and needy of the city. The bread will be given to the nine churches which present at one office, on the first of each month, the largest number of labels.

There will be nine donations from the 1000 loaves each month and divided as follows: The church presenting the largest number of labels on the first of each month will receive the first, or largest donation, and the nine donations are as follows:

Every church in charity is requested to save labels and present them at the company's office on the first day of the following months: January, February, March and April

CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICTS.

Senate Committee's Probable Rearrangement of Them.

The senate committee on congressional apportionment appointed at the conference last week will meet at Indianapolis next Tuesday. The republican members of the committee, says the Indianapolis News, are already besieged by friends of the thirteen republican congressmen-elect in the state Each of the congressmen elect is preparing to insist that to the rearrangement of the congressional districts he shall be taken care of, i e., the new district shall be so constructed as to make the election of a republican sure two years from now. There is already some feeling becoming manifest, and some of the old politicians say that before the reapportionment is agreed upon there will be a lack of harmony among the politicians of the thirteen districts. The understanding is at this time that every congressional district will be changed. After mentioning the proposed changes in each district, the News concludes as follows:

"The Tenth, Twelfth and Thirteenth districts are bothering the leaders a good deal. It has been figured out that some of the republican counties in the Ninth district might be added to the Tenth district, and the politicians say a fair way will be found for making the Eleventh district reliably republican. Allen county is the troublesome county in the Twelfth district. By putting that county somewhere else, the district can be made republican, but no other district wishes to be associated with the county. The chairman of the senate committee, Senator Voll, is from Elkhart in the Eleventh district, and it has been suggested that he will see that the northern districts are all properly cared for in the shake up. It will be the endeavor of the republicans to arrange the districts so as to give the republican eight of the thirteen congressmen."

By the Brenzinger Bread Baking Company Through the Churches of This City.

At a meeting of the directors of the Brenzinger Bread Baking company, it was decided to give 1000 loaves of bread to the poor of Fort Wayne, through the various churches of the city.

The donation will be made monthly for four months, at the rate of 1000 loaves per month The Brenzinger brand has upon it a stamp. These labels must be saved by the various churches of the city, and presented at the office of the Brenzinger Bread Baking company, 11 Washington boulevard, on the first of each month. All churches in the city are requested to enter the donation, and collect and save from every loaf of bread the label, which they can gather among their members and friends. By doing this they are helping the poor and needy of the city. The bread will be given to the nine churches which present at one office, on the first of each month, the largest number of labels.

There will be nine donations from the 1000 loaves each month and divided as follows: The church presenting the largest number of labels on the first of each month will receive the first, or largest donation, and the nine donations are as follows:

CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICTS.

Senate Committee's Probable Rearrangement of Them.

The senate committee on congressional apportionment appointed at the conference last week will meet at Indianapolis next Tuesday. The republican members of the committee, says the Indianapolis News, are already besieged by friends of the thirteen republican congressmen-elect in the state Each of the congressmen elect is preparing to insist that to the rearrangement of the congressional districts he shall be taken care of, i e., the new district shall be so constructed as to make the election of a republican sure two years from now. There is already some feeling becoming manifest, and some of the old politicians say that before the reapportionment is agreed upon there will be a lack of harmony among the politicians of the thirteen districts. The understanding is at this time that every congressional district will be changed. After mentioning the proposed changes in each district, the News concludes as follows:

"The Tenth, Twelfth and Thirteenth districts are bothering the leaders a good deal. It has been figured out that some of the republican counties in the Ninth district might be added to the Tenth district, and the politicians say a fair way will be found for making the Eleventh district reliably republican. Allen county is the troublesome county in the Twelfth district. By putting that county somewhere else, the district can be made republican, but no other district wishes to be associated with the county. The chairman of the senate committee, Senator Voll, is from Elkhart in the Eleventh district, and it has been suggested that he will see that the northern districts are all properly cared for in the shake up. It will be the endeavor of the republicans to arrange the districts so as to give the republican eight of the thirteen congressmen."

SEEKING A HOME.

The Lozier Bicycle Works May Locate Here.

Accidents, Incidents and Personal Gossip of the Railway Shops and Shops.

The Lozier Manufacturing company, builders of the Cleveland bicycles, whose factories were recently destroyed by fire in Toledo, are seeking a new location. THE SENTINEL is informed that Mr. H. G. Olds, of the Olds Wagon works, is making an effort to have the loziers locate here and as an inducement it is understood he has tendered them the use of a portion of the wagon works buildings for shop room. The Lozier Manufacturing company, prior to the destruction of their works, gave employment to 300 men. Such an addition to our industrial interests would be a great benefit to Fort Wayne and THE SENTINEL hopes that Mr. Olds will be successful in securing it.

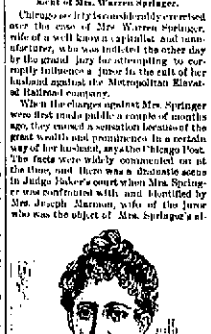
CHARGED WITH BRIBERY.

Chicago Society Interested in the Indictment of Mrs. Warren Springer.

Chicago society is considerably excited over the case of Mrs Warren Springer, wife of a well known capitalist and manufacturer, who was indicted the other day by the grand jury for attempting to corruptly influence a juror in the suit of her husband against the Metropolitan Elevated Railroad company.

When the charges against Mrs. Springer were first made public a couple of months ago, they caused a sensation because of the great wealth and prominence in a certain way of her husband, says the Chicago Post. The facts were widely commented on at the time, and there was a dramatic scene in Judge Baker's court when Mrs. Springer was confronted with and identified by Mrs. Joseph Harmon, wife of the juror who was the object of Mrs. Springer's alleged attempt at jury fixing. A jury had been for some days, at that time, engaged in the suit of Warren Springer against the Metropolitan Elevated Railway company, in which hardshell several hundred thousand dollars from the corporation for damages said to have been done to one of his buildings by the construction of the elevated road.



MRS WARREN SPRINGER.

One of the jurors was George W. Marmon, and one day before court opened he called on Judge Baker and said that a woman calling herself Mrs. Warren Springer had called on his wife at their home, 3934 Vernon avenue, and offered to pay her money contingent on Juror Marmon securing a verdict in favor of Springer. Judge Baker dismissed the jury from further hearing of the case and issued a bench warrant for the arrest of the woman who had approached Mrs. Marmon with the proposition of bribery.

It was stated by Mr. Springer that his wife could not have been the person who visited Mrs. Marmon, because she was out of town and had been for more than a week. She was identified by Mrs. Marmon, however, as the woman who had attempted to bribe her. Mrs. Springer was held for the grand jury, and the recent indictment is the result. Mrs. Springer is a rather comely woman, with a slender face framed with dark brown hair, has large gray eyes and apparently is not more than 25 years old. Though she came of an old Scotch Presbyterian family, Mrs. Springer herself was sent to the Frankhouse Sisters' convent at Lexington, Ky., when but 10 years of age and remained there until she was 20. Her manner is plainly that of a convent bred girl. She is highly cultivated—a musician, painter and linguist—and her home is crowded with books and works of art.

The legal presumption will be that the acted upon the counsel for her husband. Should this point be sustained it will leave Mr. Springer liable for the acts of his wife, because the law says that in such cases the husband shall receive the same penalty that would be inflicted on the wife were she convicted.

A SCANDAL AVERTED.

Ward McAllister Suppresses a Threatened Breach of Promise Suit.

Heyward Hall McAllister, the young son of Ward McAllister, the arbiter of New York fashion, will pick up the pieces of Lizzie McCall-Wall for damages for breach of promise. Rather than have his private affairs aired in court a money settlement has been made, says the New York Herald, and there will be no litigation.

How women have had such a career as Mrs. McCall, who is still handsome and fascinating. She has been married twice, sued for divorce once and was indicted for manslaughter in the fourth degree, charged with having killed her husband, George Barry Wall. After she had made her debut in "Evangeline" she married Wall, a broker of New York, and with him went to live in New Utrecht.

She longed for the society of her stage friends after a time, and her visits to them caused many quarrels between herself and her husband. One day in February, 1887, he was found in his room dead. His wife was crying over him, and she said he had shot himself. He died in a few days, having said that his wife had given him and had begged him to say it was an accident. She was arrested, indicted and released on $5,000 bail, but the indictment was afterward nolle prosequied. She then went abroad, and, returning, got a divorce and was married to Nester Lennox, an actor, who secured a divorce from her.

Between Childhood and Old Age.

A writer in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat says: A strange case that is attracting the attention of and puzzling the Kansas City doctors is that of Lillian Miller, a girl of 14 years, who has undergone a most remarkable change within the past year. About a year ago Lillian was a slight child of extreme nervous disposition. She had a fainting fit at that time, which the attending physician attributed to nervousness. From that time on the fainting spells grew frequent and finally they took the form of convulsions and with this change came one that now puzzles the doctors. The child, when out of the convulsion complained of acute pain and acted as a child of her age would naturally. During the convulsion and immediately after she appeared to be one another person. She took on the appearance of a very old woman in speech and manner. She could converse as an old woman might be able to converse about her life extending to the 90 years and talked knowingly of the family who were with her. This peculiar condition lasts for an hour or so, and then she returns to her normal condition. These changes have lasted frequently, until now about equally divides her time between the two conditions.

There is a loud call since the election for a better folding machine in states where the Australian system of voting has been adopted. In New York city there were as many as 32 different ballots, all to be folded by hands often tissue as stiffened with labor that they could not perform the task. Some of the voters gave up in despair and did not vote at all, despite the measures to be voter, in favor of those were those to be voted against. The votes cast had to be folded and deposited in the ballot box. The rest had to be folded and given to an inspector, who tore them up. The less intelligent voter became muddled and worry before he had completed the reading and fumbling. In many cases men no doubt voted for candidates and measures they desired to vote against. The folding machine would help matters.

November is one of the happiest, jolliest months of the year. Why? Because the holy exuberance shows from them and gladdens the heart of man, woman and child. That would be enough to cast a halo over the month even if we did not have the base shows and Thanksgiving.
